The Federal Democratic Republic of Nepal, bordered by China in the north and India in the south, is a land of sublime natural beauty. Often recognized for its natural beauty, cultural diversity, and ethnic diversity, the country is famous as the land of Buddha and the land of Gurkhas all over the world. Although the country occupies a small area of 147,181 sq. km, it houses over 28 million people in its diverse landscape. The country follows a federal parliamentary republic system and has 7 provinces and 77 districts. Nepal has a traditional economic system in which the majority of the population engages in subsistence agriculture, and the allocation of available resources is made based on primitive methods.

Albeit the country houses over 28 million people only, the population comprises of youths in major numbers with a percentage of over 40. This population group has played an extremely prominent role in leading the overall development of the nation to make it one of the fastest-growing economies in the world. However, disparities are still prevalent and the tendency of youths to go abroad is causing a major setback for the country. This age group bears the capacity to bring table-turning changes in the country if their energy is rightly utilized. Therefore, it is of utmost importance that the youths be guided and led to explore their path in life and set goals for themselves with a vision for their nation.

If we look at the trend of the Nepalese youths, most of the youths are unaware of the potential to make a successful living in the motherland itself. A lot of youths are moving out to a new land in search of a better life and better earning. However, they are unaware of the opportunities due to the lack of knowledge, guidance, and motivation. Nepal shows extreme potential in agriculture as well as tourism. The youths must understand the necessity of engaging in these potential areas and earning their living in their motherland. Furthermore, the youths must also take charge of the leadership positions in governmental as well as non-governmental entities to make sure that the nation is moving ahead with changes as per the necessity of time. The nation also demands equal participation of women and men to make sure that both groups enhance their capacities equally and nourish their skills.

With a vision to address the problems the country and the youths face in the present scenario, Nepal Youth Council was successfully organized the two-day “National Youth Conference 2021” from 12-13 August 2021 in Kathmandu Nepal. From its establishment, Nepal Youth Council has been notably practicing gender equality and has been sticking its importance in the mind of youths from time to time as both parties carry an equal part for the prosperity of the nation. So, the conference will house equally represented and inclusive representatives, 220 Youths from Nepal will attend the Conference where 154 youths (one female and one male) from all 77 districts of Nepal. In addition to that, 66 youths (gender-balanced) will be selected from the differently-abled, Dalits, diverse ethnic groups, minority communities, and LGBTQ to ensure inclusion. Nepal Youth Council is convinced that the conference will recognize the youths as an undeniably effective force into the mainstream of development in Nepal.

“Thousands of Nepali youths have sacrificed their blood and sweat to establish Nepal as a federal democratic republic. While a number of youths have lost a lot during the process, I feel they are ignoring their responsibility to maintain the integrity of the very system itself. If this is the case, the federal system won't be successful. Youths need to engage robustly in the local, federal, and the central level as well.”

Mr. Rajendra N Suwal: If the objective of tourism is to sell the dream destinations, the goal of eco-tourism is to nurture the destinations with climate-friendly applications. Human and wild animals face new challenges for survival every day because of climate change. By referring to Greta Thunberg's activism, we can clearly know that "You are never too small to make a difference". Thus a clear development trajectory with an increased contribution of renewable energy needs to develop.

Dr. Krishna Prasad Poudel: Youth should be engaged in Agriculture for decentralized development and for the innovation of new ideas and technologies. There is a huge gap in the field of agriculture from the youth population. Being active in agriculture has still been a field of humiliation for many youths. Instead, it should be taken as a boon to be born in a country like Nepal with high potential in agriculture. Youth should be encouraged from the side of government as well as society to take responsibility in the field of agriculture.

Mr. Shivu Pandey: Crime committed using a computer and the internet to steal data or information is known as cybercrime. Every minute we are seeing about half a million attack attempts that are happening in cyberspace. An individual can take various steps to be safe from such acts such as setup two-step verification, only install software from trusted sources, never reuse your main email password, difficult passwords, think before you share the information, automated backups and soon. Mental health can be impacted drastically by cyberbullying, online harassment, misleading data and spam, self-injury or suicide promotion, impersonation and threats. As a responsible youth, one step from an individual side can minimise such the online platform.

Hon`ble Ram Prasad Thapaliya wished Happy International Youth Day 2021 to every youth participant present. He expressed that Youths are capable enough to move forward by making themselves responsible regarding any situation that comes across during the pandemic. Even under such circumstances, Nepal Youth Council is connecting many youths through various programs. It seems that the youth will have to pay special attention to the issues of employment promotion and protection of the environment. In order to mobilize the youth power as the heritage of the nation, the state has taken various policy decisions, structures have been formed, and this country needs to move forward through various structures as it moves towards federalism

Mr. Rajendra Giri: Youth has always been competent and extraordinary so in further days they should be conscious and responsible enough to increase their skills in order to compete in global level. The Constitution of Nepal 2015 has stated that local government is the nearest government to the citizen so, always collaborate with local level government. That type of collaboration can make a huge difference either it be for social, economic, or other developmental aspects.

Mr. Rajan Koirala: As always, Mr. Koirala addressed the energy of active youth during the conference in order to make oneself capable enough to address the issues around us and make ourselves a better version.
